Lucilla's place was a true hidden gem. Not much of an address- but pay attention to the mile markers on hummingbird highway. Everyone in the area is super friendly and you can always pull over and ask where they live! The cabin was beautiful- with beautiful views! Wake up to the most lovely sun cascading over the trees! The cabin is located in Valley Community Village and everyone is like family there! We met a lot of the people who live in the neighborhood and really got a good sense of how life is in the area!

We had a delicious dinner that Lucilla helped us order and was delivered to us! Breakfast was Home made and delivered in the early morning as well! This is a one-of-a-kind experience on Airbnb and i would highly recommend staying here to really be immersed in Belizean culture! ❤️
👉 thanks Lucilla and Jennifer!!

Lucilla's cabin was my last stop before flying out of Belize and I had an absolutely wonderful time. Her village at mile marker 18 on the Hummingbird Highway (turn off is right by the bus stop) is small, peaceful and nestled right in the heart of the country. I was greeted by her son and parents with warmth, acceptance and incredible hospitality. Lucilla was gracious, friendly and really helpful in navigating the Sunday bus schedule and some of the local sights. Also, if you have the fortune of being invited to take part in a home cooked meal, the value is unbeatable. The cabin itself is fully and very well furnished with all the necessities and even a few perks like a hotplate, coffee fixings and drinking water. I encourage anyone looking for a peaceful, scenic and rustic Belize experience to contact Lucilla and partake in true local fare.

It's a nice spacious cabin in a small local community. Close to a river and a national park with waterfall and some jungle trails. I really enjoyed it and would come back. Recommendable.

Our stay was perfect. It was clean, authentic, cozy, and quiet. We hiked a bit and checked out a local waterfall nearby, but mostly it was just a great quiet little escape from everyday life. Perfect for playing cards on the veranda and lazing around for a long weekend.

This nicely presented cabin located between Belmopan City and Dangriga and provides access to some local attractions such as Blue Hole National Park, St Herman's cave, Billy Barquediera Waterfall and some adventure companies which could organise river tubing, zip-wire trip or other excursions. Food could be cooked independently or provided on request by helpful assistant Dina for a very reasonable price. We really enjoyed our stay in Aly Cabin.
